

DARRYL ANDERSON - PE, PLS President / Project Principle

"I'm a 'dirt under the fingernails' kind of engineer. I try to create solutions from what's there. I am not afraid to come up with an idea that no one has ever done before. I am not afraid to make decisions when they need to be made."

Mr. Anderson is the President and Founder of Anderson Engineering & Surveying, Inc. Over his 25-year career, Mr. Anderson has either been the project manager or overseen thousands of projects, spanning the spectrum of civil and structural engineering, planning, and surveying. Darryl has been a project manager on teams that included planners, biologists, landscapers, architects, and other engineering disciplines.

Project Experience

Deep Creek Bridge Replacement Project: Project Principle

This project consisted of design of a new structure to replace the existing bridge over Deep Creek in Lake County, Oregon. The scope of work included bridge design, right-of-way acquisition, roadway approach, bidding administration, construction management and inspection, and construction surveying. Mr. Anderson was the Project Principle in charge of overall project management.

Town of Lakeview Geothermal Projects: Project Principle

The Town of Lakeview, in cooperation with the Oregon Department of Corrections, developed a geothermal heating system for the Corrections Facility constructed north of Lakeview, Oregon. Anderson Engineering & Surveying, Inc. was retained by the Town of Lakeview to provide design and construction administration for two geothermal wells and their associated controls.

Sycan Marsh Restoration Projects: Project Principle

Anderson Engineering & Surveying, Inc. was retained by The Nature Conservancy to provide design and surveying services for several restoration projects in the Sycan Marsh area. The projects involve weir removal and restoration of the banks of the river channel. This includes grade stabilization and fish passage.
